Pavel Petrukhin

Curricilum Vitae

Current Position:
Visiting Scholar
Slavisches Institut
Ruprecht-Karls-Universität Heidelberg
Schulgasse 6, 69117 Heidelberg
Phone: 06221 542636

Education:
Ph.D. in Russian Linguistics – Vinogradov Russian Language Institute of the Russian Academy of Sciences, 2003.
Dissertation: Linguistic Heterogeneity and the Use of Past Tenses in the Old Russian Chronicles.

B.A./M.A. in Russian Literature and Linguistics – Lomonosov Moscow State University, Department of Russian Language, 1997.
Thesis: Linguistic Heterogeneity of the Old Russian Piskarev Chronicle (the 17th century).
Universitá di Pisa, Dipartimento delle Lingue e Letterature Slave, 1995-1996.

Fellowships and Awards:
Gerda Henkel Foundation Fellowship: 2023
The Research Group Linkage Programme of the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation, project „German-Russian Relations in the 13th Century. A Source Study" (2016-2018)
The Austrian Science Fund (FWF) Fellowship: October 2010-September 2012
Alexander von Humboldt Research Fellowship: 2005–2006; renewed research stay: 2009, 2013, 2022-2023
Personal Scholarship of the President of Russian Federation: 1995-1996

Languages:
Russian, English – fluent
German, Italian – very good
French – good
Ancient Greek, Latin, Hebrew, Old Church Slavonic, modern Slavic languages, Spanish – reading

Teaching Experience:
Lectures at Lomonosov Moscow State University (Department of Theoretical and Applied Linguistics), University of Vienna, University of Göttingen, University of Kiel, University of Heidelberg, University of California, Los Angeles