| 1987–1992 | Diploma of Higher Education, Kyiv State Pedagogical University, History Department (Kyiv, Ukraine) |
| October 26, 2001 | Dissertation (degree of Candidate of Sciences): PhD thesis “Old Rus’ Veche in the second half 11 th –13 th Centuries” at the Institute of History of Ukraine, National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine (Kyiv), under supervision of Dr. Oleksiy Tolochko.
The dissertation studied the phenomenon of the Old Rus’ veche (popular assembly in ancient Rus’) in the light of political concepts of Rus’ chroniclers. |
| December 25, 2015 | Habilitation (degree of Doctor of Sciences): higher doctoral thesis on “The Chronographic Component of the pre-Mongol Kyivan Chronicles and the Origin of the Old Rus’ chronographs.”
Old Rus’ historical texts can be divided into two categories: chroniclers (letopistsy) were tasked with writing “the history of the fatherland,” while “world history” was the preserve of translators of Byzantine chronicles and histories, as well as to compilers of chronographs (compendia). The dissertation is the first to combine these two subfields of source studies. |
